

Open letter from Organic Milling, Inc. on coronavirus pandemic

To Our Partners,

On behalf of all at Organic Milling, thank you for your continued support in this incredibly challenging and unprecedented time.

The global coronavirus pandemic is forcing its way into our lives with unparalleled efforts underway around the world to halt its spread. None of us truly knows the scale and scope of the challenge, but there is no doubt a fear of the unknown, which is unsettling for all of us, our families, friends and business partners. Our thoughts go out to all that have been affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.

At Organic Milling, our highest priority is the health and wellbeing of our employees, partners and the communities in which we operate. And in times as these especially so. We are monitoring developments as they evolve and taking the appropriate steps - consistent with government and health authority guidance - to help and support the ongoing wellbeing of everyone across the business and in our broader communities.

This will not stop us from being there for you. We remain open for business and colleagues are ready to engage. Now and whenever you need us. We have also introduced measures to sustain our production.

If circumstances arise that create a conflict between health and wellbeing and our ability to deliver, we will contact you. Wherever possible our commitment will remain to serve and support you. But we will continue to use our best endeavors to do our part in slowing the spread of this terrible infection.

From all of us at Organic Milling, we would like to sincerely thank you all for your continued trust and partnership. Let us aim to come out of this stronger – together.
